Comments:

I agree with the proposed measures. Business owners and citizens can be asked to follow these guidelines and maintain safety while easing back into business. We are responsible adults and good citizens. We can follow guidelines to protect ourselves, our families, the vulnerable and elderly. We no longer need fingers wagged at us to do the right thing. Big box stores, grocery store and REAL ESTATE related jobs have conducted business throughout the economic shutdown. Their examples demonstrate that other businesses can be just as responsible.

I am the Executive Director of ReadWest Adult Literacy Program. we have been famous for our one to one tutoring of adults who have low-literacy. Because our business model is not conducive to face to face, 6-foot social distancing, we have spent the entire quarantine adapting our tutoring using 'distance learning methods' using zoom, google meets, skype, etc. We too are ready to train our volunteers and students with these new methods to provide needed literacy instruction to Sandoval County residents. Let's get people back to work through literacy instruction and building a strong workforce!
