Comments:

It is appalling that county commissioners will be considering giving themselves a raise when so many people have lost their jobs, and are struggling to provide basic necessities for their families due to this pandemic. You should be more concerned with the well being of your constituents, county employees and maintaining the infrastructure you're responsible for rather than giving yourselves raises. If budget shortfalls will not allow for county employees to receive raises, then commissioners you should not be giving yourselves raises let alone considering it.
