Comments:

The proposed redistricting of Sandoval County reeks of partisanship and strong arm tactics to further one political party and their pay-back agenda. In particular, the combining of Placitas with Corrales, chopping up the town of Bernalillo into 3 separate districts, as well as lumping all Native American tribes into one huge district is a thinly veiled attempt to strengthen the Republican party and at best is a geographical chaotic mash up. The worst part is that the initial proposal sparking alarm bells was designed by a former Republican lawmaker and his company. Truly cynical and indeed shameful! Any tweaking of district boundaries(if they are even warranted) needs fair and balanced input from BOTH sides of the political aisle. Just because gerrymandering has been a political ploy for decades, doesn't make it right!
