Comments:

The voting machines currently have 'documentation' that is missing proof that a Voting System Testing Lab 'tested' this system and was itself accredited at the time of testing. This is not documentation that the voting system is certified. We have been following this for a very long time.

During the public Voting System Certification Committee hearing earlier this year, a representative from Dominion admitted that ranked choice voting software is installed on EVERY machine in the state. We have also known this for a very long time.

Ranked choice voting software is not certified at all according to Dominion and should not be installed on any machine which is being represented as 'certified' by the Secretary of State. See this article: <https://estancia.news/soss-proposed-dominion-5-17-election-system-contains-illegal-software-isnt-certified-and-cannot-be-used-in-new-mexico/>

You cannot certify the results of the November 7th, 2023 election without committing a felony.
